

The Insiders Edge

PRESIDENT'S COCKPIT

Hopefully the weather will start cooling off soon and allow those of us who enjoy flying more when the temperature is lower the opportunity to do so. I can tell you from experience that even 24 degrees is nice as long as the wind isn't blowing. Bob Perry has been doing a terrific job keeping up on the field maintenance even though the temperature's have been brutal. I'm going to discuss with Bob when he thinks we can conduct another field maintenance day. I want to encourage all members to take an active role within the club during this and all activities we conduct. It's understood that some can't always make it do to prior commitments, but together we can complete many things big or small and show support for our club. There is a list of things that needs to be done and shouldn't fall on just one person's shoulders. (e.g. remove all the debris from around the tree by the porta-potty, replace the telephone poles that line the front of the shelter, relocate a few of the railroad ties one in particular that will allow access to the pavilion ramp from the parking lot). If you have any items you think need work around the field please present them at the club meeting or send an e-mail to Bob or myself. Those of you who do not have e-mail feel free to call me at the number listed below. In addition, Gale continues to do an excellent job keeping the books straight and also making sure the bills get paid. I want to let everyone know that we are listed on the AMA website and everything appears to be in order and going very well lately. We are currently not listed on the into pilot program, but I'm working with Dave Fuller and trying to get us entered into the program. I will continue working with the executive council to ensure the club continues to serve the membership effectively. I have stopped by a few more flying fields while vacationing, this time I was in western Pennsylvania. As I wrote before every member should be very pleased with our field, a few things I noticed immediately upon my arrival at these other fields. We have no power lines to contend with, largest open area before the tree line starts, smoothest and longest runways, (we have more than one runway) and so far the most modern pavilion. I hope everyone is able to attend the float fly at Bob and Gale's house July 30th with the 31st being a rain date. Look forward to seeing everyone soon!
