

PRESIDENT'S COCKPIT

The SPAD building project took place at the November meeting and many nice planes left out of the school that night. In particular Dave Fuller customized his SPAD with the elevator mounted on top of the vertical stabilizer and a few other changes. I personally saw it flying at the field last Sunday and it really flew nice. I also want to apologize for there not being any hotdogs or cold drinks for the SPAD building project. Dave Fromme really did mean to have both items available for everyone that participated in the building project, but he did not have an opportunity to stop and pick up anything before the meeting.

On a different note another good time was had by all who attended the Perry Float Fly. The day couldn't have been any better it doesn't get much better than that day was. We had hamburgers, brats, lumpia, cookies of all kinds, potato salad, and numerous other food items. In addition, to all of the above items everyone at the float fly got to enjoy Ichu Ruefly's famous chicken wings. Mr. and Mrs. Perry we appreciate the invitation to enjoy a day of fellowship, food, and flying off the water at your residence and wished we had more to look forward to.

The Christmas party is still scheduled to take place at the December 7th club meeting. We tried to get a caterer to handle the Christmas party this year, but due to time constraints after the club election we had to put that idea on hold until next year. Some of the problems we ran into was not knowing how many members would be attending and therefore could not determine what the cost would be for each attendee. The members in attendance at the November meeting chose to stick with the usual Christmas party food items and drinks, and yes the gift exchange will also take place as it has the past couple of years. Those who bring a gift will get to pick a gift and those who don't get to sit back and watch the fun unwrap before their eyes. Please take this opportunity to mark your calendars now, and we look forward to seeing you at the December Christmas Party. Until we meet again take care.

NOTES FROM THE WEB SITE MANAGER

The web site continues to receive hits from all over the world. The word is out about the club! I will not be at the December meeting as work continues to interfere with my hobby. I wish everyone the best during this holiday season and don't forget...it's building season. Get those projects out and in progress. The building contest is right around the corner!
